Community Services Block Grant (CSBG) Discretionary Request for Grant Application (RFGA)

The State Community Services Office is accepting CSBG Discretionary grant applications to support Utah's nine community action agencies through targeted teaching and technical assistance; provision of advocacy on behalf of the community action agencies and their community needs as identified in needs assessments; and the hosting of a poverty conference supporting the community action network as well as other interested stake holders. Expertise is expected in the CSBG Act, CSBG Organizational Standards, Results Oriented Management and Accountability (ROMA) methodology, tripartite board management, as well as state statute and policies and procedures. Applicants should have good relationships with all nine community action agencies and be willing to travel often to provide statewide support. Subcontracting of this funding is not permitted.
